Columbus, Aug. 26. — Tom L. Johnson was nominated for governor by acclamation.

Clarke, of Cleveland. presented Johnson's name and eulogized him highly and arraigned Senator Hanna. arousing a tremendous demonstration.

Judge Hagan, of Springfield, said Clarke county had no candidate, and then the nomination was made by acclamation.

Johnson made a characteristic speech of acceptance, talking about "dead timber of the party" and "renegades."

ATTACKED JOHNSON.

Judge Hagans, of Springfield, presented a minority report on resolutions. They did not endorse either the Chicago or Kansas City platform Hon. M. A. Daugherty spoke strongly in favor of the minority platform

He attacked Johnson bitterly as one who never favored free silver and now was dodging his own record by ignoring national issues and advertising state policies in which he did not himself believe.

HISSED HIM DOWN.

The convention tired of Daugherty and tried to drown his voice. Johnson appealed to his friends to give Daugherty a respectful hearing. The minority platform was defeated by an overwhelming vote, and the adopting of the majority report was greeted by a loud demonstration.

SCRAP ON SENATORSHIP.

Majority and minority reports were presented by the committee on rules and order of business. The former provided for the endorsement of a candidate for senator, the latter did not.

A sharp discussion followed. The vote by counties was demanded and resulted 211 in favor of the minority report and 446 against it.

The majority report was then adopted, and the committee on resolutions reported the platform, which was adopted.

GOEKE PERMANENT CHAIRMAN.

Minority report on credentials seating Johnson delegates from Hamilton, Gallia, Miami, Ross, and Seneca counties was greeted with cheers. The minority report was presented, and the case of Miami taken up first. After a very brief discussion the minority report was defeated and the majority report adopted. J. H. Goeke, as permanent chairman, addressed the convention.

to the last national platform.

"We condemn the colonial idea and imperialism, denounce trusts and trust fostering tariffs, repudiate government by injunction, and oppose financial monopoly and privileges; adhering to the principles of the Kansas City platform, we declare our condemnation of all offers to renounce or ignore them."

This covers an allusion to national issues, and the remainder is devoted to state issues, among which are Republican legislation on tax laws, and the valuation of property, corporations for taxation; it admits some Democrats are corruptly allied with corporations, but says the difference is that Democrats are punished, while Republicans are rewarded; favors home rule for counties and cities, the constitutional amendment for classification of property for taxation, and single liability for stockholders; improvement of Ohio river, maintenance of Ohio canals, two-cents-a-mile rate on railways, and the nomination of United States senators by the convention

MR. JOHNSON TURNS 'EM LOOSE

Columbus, O., Aug. 26 —(Special.)—The friends of Mayor Tom L. Johnson are in complete control of the Democratic state convention.

Of his supremacy there is not now the slightest doubt. The followers of the Cleveland mayor arose refreshed after a night of triumph in the divers committee struggles, and even the most optimistic of the Zimmerman supporters entertained but feeble hopes of success.

The big auditorium on Goodale street was the Mecca of thousands today. Delegates and visitors to the convention were early astir, and 9:30 a. m., the hour set for the convening of the Buckeye Democracy, found the large structure filled to its capacity. On the stage were seated men prominent in the councils of the party, on the floor were the 700 delegates, and in the galleries the vast audience of interested onlookers. Potted plants and portraits of party leaders, present and departed, and a lavish display of the national colors, added to the beauty of the scene. The audience was in a cheery mood and applauded vociferously as each and every leader entered the hall. Mayor Johnson especially was the recipient of a flattering ovation, and Hon. John L. Zimmerman was not overlooked by friends.

Chairman Frey of the state central committee called the convention to order and in a few words thanked the delegates for their presence and predicted success for the party in the fall. He closed by introducing the chaplain, Rev. John Hewitt of Columbus, who offered prayer.

Hon G. M. Saltzgaber of Van Wert then was presented as the temporary chairman, and he at once delivered an address in which he reviewed the issues of the hour. The delegates and visitors were attentive auditors and frequently interrupted the speaker with applause.

Then followed the reports of the committees on credentials, permanent organization, rules and order of business and resolutions. The credentials committee had unseated the Bernard delegation from Cincinnati, and this report excited the liveliest interest of the day.

After the committee on organization had reported, the report of the committee on rules and order of business was read. This committee recommended that a candidate be indorsed for the United States senatorship. The [illegible] was adopted by a large

HOW JOHNSON ROPED 'EM IN

Columbus, O., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—The preliminary meeting of the Democratic state convention resulted in favor of Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland in his contest with John L. Zimmerman of Springfield for the gubernatorial nomination.

Mayor Johnson had uncontested control of the Democratic state convention last year at Sandusky, and the committee selected then, in its call for this convention, provided that the credentials from all the counties were to be first submitted to the state committee. Pursuant to this new requirement the state central committee that was selected at Sandusky last year met and decided all the contests that affect 145 of the 690 delegates in favor of the Johnson men, who thus had the odds in their favor when the delegates met by congressional districts to select members of the committees on credentials, resolutions, etc., for the control of the convention The Johnson men secured two-thirds of the state central committee, which holds over to call the state convention next year, when delegates-at-large to the Democratic national convention will be selected and an indorsement be made for the presidency.

The state central committee, in considering the contests from counties in alphabetical order, first decided to report to the committee on credentials by viva voce vote that there was no contest from Cuyahoga county (Cleveland), and then on a demand for a rollcall it was decided by a vote of 14 to 7 that there was a contest from Hamilton county (Cincinnati). The result of this action was that the First and Second districts at Cincinnati, which are anti-Johnson, were prevented from voting in the organization of the committees and the convention, while the Twentieth and Twenty-first districts at Cleveland were enabled to take part.

The state central committee referred the contests in Gallia, Miami, Ross and Seneca counties to the committee on credentials without recommendation. These counties are in different congressional districts, and those districts proceeded to select members of the committees without the contested counties taking part, the result being thus favorable to the Johnson men. It is seldom that such vigorous protesting is heard as that of the Zimmerman men, but the Johnson men reply that no quarter could be expected after such a fight as has been waged the past few days. The Zimmerman men carried the fight into the meetings of all the committees. The most bitter feeling was manifested against the action of the old state central committee in passing on contested cases, which is said to be without precedent in the history of the party. Charles P. Salen, Johnson's manager, is a member of the state central committee, and Harry F. Payer, who represents the other Cleveland district, is secretary of that committee. They were the leaders in the action of the committee in seating the Cleveland delegates and unseating the Cincinnati delegates and holding out the balance of power in other districts. The appeal of the Zimmerman men for instructions from the counties on governor not to apply to the selection of members of the committees and the organization of the convention were not only not effective, but in fact accepted as a confession of weakness, and the Johnson men stood solidly together on all the preliminary contests.

HOT FIGHTS IN DISTRICTS

The district meetings were unusually spirited, especially those of the Cincinnati districts, where the Johnson men were represented by the Bigelow delegation and the Zimmerman men by the Bernard delegation. Each made separate selections, those of the Bigelow delegation being unanimous, while the Bernard delegates had opposing candidates. The Bigelow delegates participated in the Bernard meetings, but the Bernard delegates took no part with their contestants. In the First district Louis G. Bernard was re-elected a member of the state central committee by a vote of 11 to 6, and in the Second district Henry Ketter was elected over John Roth by a vote of 10 to 9.

Mayor Johnson addressed the meetings of his home delegates, representing the Twentieth and Twenty-first districts, urging them to stand to the last for John A. Clarke for senator. At the same time his home district refused to indorse G. M. Saltzgaber for senator, but Saltzgaber was indorsed by other districts. The result of the district meetings settled almost everything except the senatorial indorsement, which is still badly mixed. The Johnson men claim to have carried 17 of the 21 districts, and by the election of C. C Philbrick in the Twelfth district the new state central committee stands 18 to 3.

Many "old-timers" were dropped, among them Colonel John Bolan of Toledo, who has been a member of the state central committee for the Ninth district for 17 years. L. G. Bernard of Cincinnati, who has been a member of the committee for a quarter of a century, was also slated to go.

The new state central committee organized with W. L. Finley of Kenton as chairman and E. C. Madigan of Cleveland as secretary, both Johnson men. The committee on permanent organization selected J. H. Goeke of Wapakoneta as permanent chairman, and report in favor of continuing the rest of the temporary organization. The Johnson men controlled all the committee meetings, but the Zimmerman men fought at every point. In the committee on rules and order of business Webster P. Huntington, the manager of Zimmerman's candidacy, led the opposition to any provision for senatorial indorsement, and four others joined him in signing the minority report. The majority report puts senatorial indorsement as the last thing in the order of business, indicating that the Johnson men expect a contest in their own ranks on that matter. While Johnson still advocates John H. Clarke of Cleveland, it is believed that the names of G. M. Saltzgaber, the temporary chairman of the convention; ex-Congressman Lentz and others will be presented, and there is much talk about nominating Bookwalter, notwithstanding his withdrawal. Charles W. Constandine, the close friend of Bookwalter, felt called upon to issue another statement that Bookwalter would decline if he was named for senator.

C. C. Philbrick, one of the close counselors of Johnson, called on Zimmerman and offered him the indorsement for senator if he would withdraw and make the nomination of Johnson unanimous, but Zimmerman could not entertain the proposition as he had issued a statement against the indorsement of anyone for senator, and his friends on the committees had already drawn up minority reports against such indorsement, and then it was thought that it would be discourteous to [illegible] fellow townsman Bookwalter, who had withdrawn from the senatorship in the interest of Zimmerman for governor. It was stated that Zimmerman would oppose any indorsement, and when beaten on that proposition they would vote for John A. Clarke, whose financial views are in accord with the conservatives on that question, so that the indorsement of Clarke for senator seemed to be assured.

The committee on credentials followed the action of the old state central committee. The contest from Cuyahoga county having been withdrawn, that of Hamilton county was first considered and the Bernard delegation was unseated, 16 to 3, the First and Second districts not voting. The committee then stood 18 to 3. The only districts with anti-Johnson men on the committees were the Seventh, Eleventh and Twelfth. The contests from Gallia, Miami, Ross and Seneca were all decided in favor of the Johnson men by different votes, local issues entering into some of them, so that the vote was 12 to 9 in the Miami case and unanimous with Gallia.

The committee on resolutions had an all-night session, although printed copies of the platform were brought here by the Johnson men from Cleve-

Cleveland, O., Aug. 26.—Senator M. A. Hanna, who has but recently returned from a several weeks' vacation, was taken so ill at his office as to require the services of a physician. The physician stated after an examination that Mr. Hanna was suffering from stomach trouble, and advised his immediate relaxation of business and retirement to his home Senator Hanna immediately left for his home and is reported to be somewhat bet-

WRIGHT SLATED TO SUCCEED TAFT IN PHILIPPINES

President Appoints Tennessee Democrat to Important Post.

[By Telegraph to The Age.]

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 26.—When Judge Taft enters the cabinet as secretary of war to succeed Elihu Root, General Luke E. Wright of Memphis, Tenn., will be made Judge Taft's successor as governor general of the Philippines. The changes in the offices will take place early in January.

President Roosevelt has authorized the announcement that the post had been offered to General Wright and that he had accepted it. General Wright is now a member of the Philippine commission and vice governor of the islands. He is a lifelong Democrat.

President Roosevelt spoke in terms of high praise of General Wright's ability and fitness for the position of governor general. He entertains a sincere regard for him both personally and officially Both the president and Secretary Root regard General Wright as a man of proved executive ability, his services as a member of the Philippine commission having been of a distinguished character. During Governor's Taft's extended sojourn in this country General Wright was acting governor general, and his conduct of the office was a source of congratulation to the administration. General Wright is popular not only with Americans in the Philippines but also with the Filipinos, who hold him only second in their estimation to Governor Taft.

President Roosevelt authorized the following statement:

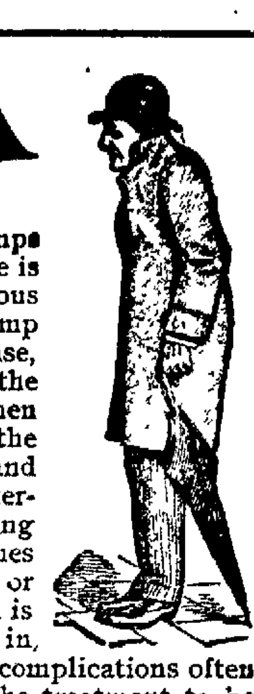

"The president some months ago tendered the secretaryship of war to Judge Taft, and at that time it was arranged that he should succeed Secretary Root. Secretary Root will go out of office some time in January, and Judge Taft will assume the duties of the office shortly afterward."

MALARIA

Germ Infected Air.

Malaria is not confined exclusively to the swamps and marshy regions of the country, but wherever there is bad air this insidious foe to health is found. Poisonous vapors and gases from sewers, and the musty air of damp cellars are laden with the germs of this miserable disease, which are breathed into the lungs and taken up by the blood and transmitted to every part of the body. Then you begin to feel out of sorts without ever suspecting the cause. No energy or appetite, dull headaches, sleepy and tired and completely fagged out from the slightest exertion, are some of the deplorable effects of this enfeebling malady. As the disease progresses and the blood becomes more deeply poisoned, boils and abscesses and dark or yellow spots appear upon the skin. When the poison is left to ferment and the microbes and germs to multiply in, the blood, Liver and Kidney troubles and other serious complications often arise. As Malaria begins and develops in the blood, the treatment to be effective must begin there too. S. S. S. destroys the germs and poisons and purifies the polluted blood, and under its tonic effect the debilitated constitution rapidly recuperates and the system is soon clear of all signs of this depressing disease.

S. S. S. is a guaranteed purely vegetable remedy, mild, pleasant and harmless. Write us if you want medical advice or any special information about your case. This will cost you nothing.

SPELLBINDERY OF SALTZGABER WAS WORKING OVER TIME

Rabid Speech of The Temporary Chairman of The Democratic State Convention.

Gentlemen of the Convention:

Your presence at this gathering is sufficient proof that you are loyal Democrats.

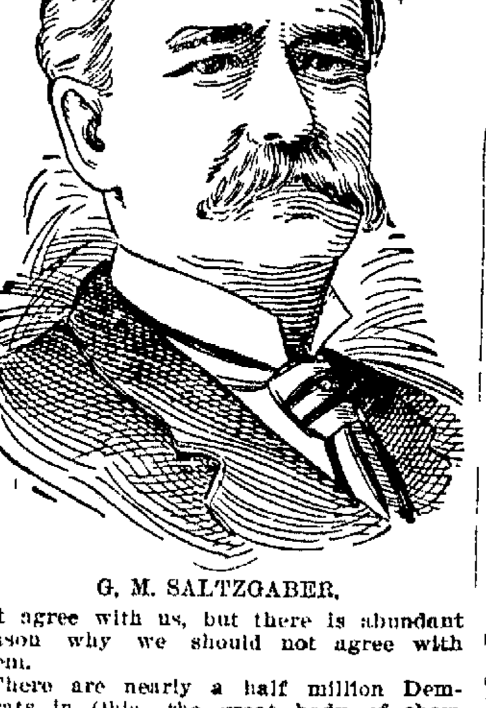

I know how earnest you are; for many years I have been meeting with you in state conventions. Sometimes we have carried the fight to glorious victory; sometimes our labors have met with stinging defeat; but through victory and defeat you have nobly struggled that all the people should have the best possible government.

We are constantly receiving advice from Republican newspapers as to what Democrats should do and I am sorry to say that it disturbs some timid Democrats and they are ready to give up some of their most cherished convictions to avoid criticism from the enemy. If we do our duty we can not avoid criticism; some one has said that criticism can be avoided by doing nothing, saying nothing and being nothing. But let us have our say, courageously, as wisely as we know how, and let the people judge.

By the favor of your central committee, I am asked to preside at this convention. I do not assume to speak to you with authority, but what I shall briefly say is the expression only of an humble member of our party.

The Democratic party was born at the foundation of this free government. It was baptized with the spirit of fraternity, liberty and equality. Its adherents believe in the fundamental principle that all men are created equal and that this shall apply in the ministration of all governmental affairs; the very essence of the doctrine is that every man subject to its authority shall have a voice in the control and management of the government. Its adherents believe, therefore, in the virtue and intelligence of the masses; they are opposed to privilege and favors by legislation; they believe in all of the exalted sentiments in the Declaration of Independence and cling with reverence to the constitution of our beloved republic. Gentlemen, I urge you to believe that this is not mere phrase making, but an earnest declaration of some of the things the Democratic party stands for and fights for.

I have no love for the self-styled Democrat who seeks an excuse for voting the Democratic ticket. I have no love for the so-called Democrat who agrees with the penny-a-liner on Republican, and some so-called Democratic papers, that the party is constantly making mistakes. We ought to expect the opposition papers to say that, because, if they are honest they do not agree with us, but there is abundant reason why we should not agree with them.

There are nearly a half million Democrats in Ohio, the great body of them loyally and faithfully come to the polls each year and endorse the platforms and vote the tickets made by conventions like this.

What a grand army of free men! Let us achieve something worthy of them. Let us say boldly the things we fight for. Let us name daring and good and true men for office, who will lead us forward to glorious victory in the cause of free, enlightened and efficient government.

Tariff.

We raise the banners which shall have inscribed upon them "war against tariff iniquities," and Republicans who love honor and justice will fight with us and for us. Three-fifths of the voters of Ohio are honestly opposed to further continuance of the wicked favors granted to beneficiaries under tariff laws. Those laws are diametrically and everlastingly opposed to the Democratic doctrine—to the cherished American doctrine, of equal rights. Convince the people that you are in earnest and will carry this one reform into effect, and on that alone the majority will sweep you into power.

Why should they continue to vote with Mr. Hanna? Nineteen-twentieths of the voters of Ohio are also righteously opposed to Mr. Hanna's ship-subsidy scheme, a device to draw money from the public treasury and bestow it on those already rich. Will a majority of voters consent that Mr. Hanna shall remain in power to further schemes by which some are enriched at the expense of the many?

The essence of the principle of protection is favoritism; wrongful advantages are given to particular producers at the expense of the general body of consumers. And the Republican party promises no relief. The "Iowa Idea" gave hope to western sentiment in both parties that something might be done to lesson tariff evils, but by Republican bosses it was strangled in the state where it was born, and the people now know that they can have no relief except through the Democratic party. The "stand patters" and the "hands offers" have complete control of the Republican organization, and the people must suffer a continuance of robbery and extortion unless the authors of this public mischief are turned out of power. And just now this tariff enormously heaps into the public treasury money useless there but much needed in the business of the people. The few are favored and the many are distressed. This continues to be a burning issue, and the masses know that the Democratic party will carry out its pledge to reduce the onerous duties and stop the legalized larceny.

Shareholders may be gratified to know that the steel trust has over $60,000,000 profit in six months, but certainly Americans, who know that the trust sells to foreigners at nearly one-half less than to Americans, ought to fight hard to lessen the duties on steel, which not only shelter this monstrous monopoly but enable it to rob the American consumer. [illegible] profit of the billion dollar trust at our own expense?

The tariff system does shelter monopoly and trusts. Trusts are a menace to our republican institutions. The opposition party no matter what moves it pretends to make will never seriously impair the growing power of the trusts. The only hope for relief lies in the success of the Democratic party.

Imperialism.

Let us not lower or surrender our high ideals on the subject of human rights. Let us maintain that America is the "free heart's hope and home," and that not only here shall there be shelter to the oppressed of all nations, but that there shall not cease to go forth the sublime doctrine of liberty to all men everywhere. Proclaim anew that all men, not SOME men, are created equal, and are endowed with inalienable rights. It was never in the minds of the fathers that of those who should be sheltered under the folds of our starry flag, one should be free and another should be subject. The rights of man are not merely to be conceded at the will of despots, or any one, they exist by nature; to secure these rights governments are instituted among men, not forced upon them.

I am not arguing questions, I am only trying to state what some of the matters are which demand our earnest support.

The Iowa Republicans recommended that self government be conceded to the Philippines, so far as this is found practicable. Let us rejoice that the right to self government is recommended, but who is to determine when the concessions are found practicable? Senator Teller pointed the way in the case of Cuba. Let us insist that this exalted example be followed. The spirit that subjugates is the same that demands an increase in the standing army, and continuing increase in the navy. Washington warned us that overgrown military establishments are inauspicious to liberty under any form of government, and are to be regarded as particularly hostile to republican liberty. Instead of the modern boast that this nation is great let us rather, as of old, say our government is good. Our strenuous ruler in his giant strides across the continent, voices the military spirit. Gazing over the western sea, he exclaims: "We must dominate the Pacific."

Has the spirit of the fathers gone forever? No! it still abides in the breasts of the people. Let us firmly invoke this spirit and ask the people to respond.

Referendum and Initiative.

It has always been the declaration of the Democratic party that the people should rule. Because of human weakness the action of legislative bodies is often unsatisfacory to the people. In municipal affairs as well as in state matters the people should have a voice in determining the nature of the laws that govern them and also how franchises and privileges should be bestowed.

In Illinois an election held on April 1, 1902, showed a majority of five to one in favor of state referendum. The sentiment is undoubtedly the same in Ohio. In Oregon the vote was eleven to one. In Ohio we may make it sixteen to one.

Every one knows the power to corrupt legislators by the use of money and other improper influences. It is not done so much as some assert, but the fact that it may be done at all makes it an imperative safeguard that the whole people may pass upon laws. This is the nearest approach to true Democracy in a populous country that can be had. The voice of the people should be given power whenever it can be expressed. In my judgment the time is opportune to declare in favor of the initiative and referendum. There is too much haste in changing laws.

Economy and Reform.

Speculation in the postoffice department, and especially brought home to Republican politicians of high rank, again admonishes the people that although that party may create and foster monopolies in other matters, it has not yet secured a monopoly of honesty. It may be that the general average of the Democratic party is no higher than that of the Republican on this score, but it is a good thing, when one party has been long entrenched in power and has become corrupt, to "turn the rascals out." The most shameful thing about it is, if it be true, as reported, that the president, soon after Hanna visited him, said there should be no further public disclosure of what is discovered.

Think of that! The people are not to be informed of the workings of their own government. Of course your Uncle Mark would have a hand in that. Stand pat and hands off, now, while an election is pending. Keep the people in the dark.

In consonance with this spirit the Republicans are committing themselves to a policy that should not meet with approval. One of the dearest rights guaranteed to us is free speech, but in Pennsylvania, in Porto Rico, in the Philippines, the right is restricted.

Is the movement to overwhelm us all when the pernicious influences that now control the Republican party feel free from restraint? Liberties encroached upon may be wholly destroyed. The press and the forum are the best safeguards. We have suffered from the venality of the one, because for a long time the fight has been largely between men and money, and money has power to persuade and to suborn witnesses, but let the fight go on.

The press may criticise us and it ought to if we deserve it, but let us believe that there are great souls whose mighty [illegible]

BE YOUR OWN JUDGE.

Mi-o-na Costs You Nothing if it Does Not Cure, Says C. E. Anderson.

Mi-o-na, the remarkable flesh-forming food and cure for dyspepsia, has won fame by the unusual way in which it is sold. It is the only remedy offered for the cure of dyspepsia which costs the user absolutely nothing unless it cures.

C. E. Anderson, the popular druggist is selling a great many packages of Mi-o-na and with every box is given his personal guarantee to refund the money if Mi-o-na does not give satisfaction, you to be your own judge as to whether the remedy helps or not.

Mi-o-na is an unusual combination, it is a flesh-forming food combined with agents that regulate the digestive organs and remove irritation, congestion and inflammation of the stomach, liver and intestines. It enables these organs to extract from the food all that goes to make good, rich blood, firm muscle, steady nerves and a sound body. It does not contain any pepsn, pancreatin or other drugs that never effect a cure and rarely give even temporary relief.

Mi-o-na puts the digestive system into proper working order, gives health, strength and good flesh, and is the natural cure for indigestion. Even in chronic cases, where life is one long drawn out pain, this remedy will effect a cure. It is the simplest and most reliable of all remedies. Just one tablet before or after meals and you can eat a hearty meal without distress.

If Mi-o-na does not do all that is claimed for it C. E. Anderson will cheerfully refund your money. 39 and exalt man.

Home Rule.

Have you heard of home rule and just taxation in Ohio? That suggests the name of one man who is in the mind of all of you. A name the synonym of honor, courage, and conviction. We are proud to carry on the rolls of Democracy, the name of that chieftain whose earnest voice is always in the fore front of battle; who, undismayed by the greatness of the biggest boss of the Republican party, in the home of both, overcomes a normal Republican majority and brings to his city, home rule and the enjoyment of greater rights. All honor to that distinguished citizen, Tom L. Johnson!

The mention of his name is a speech itself on the things he stands for, and that Democracy stands for. He has won his fight because the people believe him sincere and because he boldly stands for something. Why can't we have more Tom Johnsons spread over the state?

He won a fight against privileged corporations for lower street care fare. Why not make a fight for a fare of two cents a mile on the steam roads? Railroads themselves make a two cent rate but only to a portion of the people. Simple Democratic justice requires that they treat all alike. We believe in equality and this is a good place to insist upon it. The railroads would not be wronged; they undoubtedly would find it more profitable, and, anyhow, why shouldn't the man with little means have the same right to ride for a low fare as one with more means? Let us make our theories of equal rights practical, and insist upon justice to the citizen without doing harm to a public corporation. They have this rate in Michigan; let us have it in Ohio.

In my little city of Van Wert, the governor of the great state of Ohio has appointed the board of public safety. In this instance he made good appointments, but they were made wholly without knowledge of the men appointed or of our local needs. We insist on our rights to local self-government. Home rule is a charming as well as a wholesome doctrine.

We can not do better than to emphasize the platform of last year on the subject of home rule and just taxation. Taxation is a burden; it should be made as light as is consistent with good government and its burden should be equitably distributed.

Municipal ownership of public utilities in my judgment is Democratic and when anything is Democratic it is for the general welfare. I still believe that government is best which governs least, but the control of public utilities in municipal corporations is a business question, and not paternalism.

The only objection that is made is that officials will not be honest in their control. It is Democratic to have confidence in the people and the percent of loss from corruption in any event would be much less than the exactions of corporations now enjoying public franchises.

Law and Order.

There can be no civil progress except in the orderly processes of the law. We are all shocked at the recent manifestations of brute force in the lynchings, burnings, and tortures, which are a disgrace to our civilization. But has not the example of disregard for law set by those who are greedily fattening on privilege and monoply something to do with the spirit that prevails? Have we not as a nation gone mad in the rush for wealth, the frenzied struggle to get rich quick? And is there not a deep conviction that those who promote great enterprises have a sneering contempt for law and law makers? May this not then have encouraged others lower down to think that might makes right, and that cunning and deceit may ply their vocation unmolested?

And among them all the innocent citizen is made to suffer.

Is there not in these days of prosperity a general lowering of the moral tone?

The success of Democracy is the sure cure for many of the evils that now afflict us. Monopoly would have to go; the trusts would be wiped out; tariff excesses would be cut off, public service corporations would have to pay for special privilege, and something of the spirit of General Jackson would creep into the enforcement of the law. But always, however, distinguishing between oppression and the necessary exercise of lawful authority.

I do not wish it understood that only fault is to be found. We have much to be thankful for; we have been abundantly blessed with material things and our magnificent commonwealth has made glorious forward movements in spite of iniquitous laws.

Our courts may be as pure as any in the world, but there have been occasions when it seemed there was justification for saying:

"Plate sin with gold and the strong lance of justice hurtless breaks; Arm it in rags, a pigmy's straw doth pierce it."

Until the millenium there will be evil [illegible]

We don't want harmony in the Democratic party—not the kind that marks servile, abject submission. Out of discussion and contention let us hope to discover the truth, how best to discharge our civic duty, and how to select leaders that stand the fire of criticism.

Is it not evident that Mr. Hanna is the Republican party in Ohio? Was there any discussion as to who should be their candidate for governor? Was there not rather prolonged silence waiting to see whom Mr. Hanna would select? Has any autocrat in the world greater power? Not only does he dictate candidates and dictate the laws, but now we are to have the experiment in Ohio, hitherto untried, of having the fundamental law tinkered by the aid of party. And the boss dictates what shall be done by the party! So the boss changes the fundamental law. The organic law was meant to be stable and enduring; not to be changed for light or transient causes. The most deliberate consideration should be given to any proposed amendment. But if the party method is to succeed the boss can change the organic law as easily as a statute and, like another Ulysses, he carries off the very palladium of our liberties. I am in favor of at least one of the proposed changes, but I wish to vote on it as a citizen free from party dictation, and I desire to raise my voice earnestly against this dangerous extention of the power of any boss or set of bosses.

The Republican party has become the champion and protector of the great interests which receive special privileges from the government. Why should any voter who believes in equity and equality give that party his support?

There is, or was, in our county this year a Republican candidate for the nomination for representative. He gave out 2,000 meal tickets, saying that the way to reach the voter was through his stomach. Democracy denies that. It was taught by its great founder to believe that the people have intelligence and honesty enough to rule, and we appeal to that intelligence and that honesty to sustain our cause.

Let us admire sincere and zealous Republicans; they are patriots and love their country; and when by the force of argument and logic of events they join our ranks their sincerity and zeal will be a valuable aid for Democracy, for just laws and good government. The drones will never help anybody or themselves.

There are other questions, questions of grave import, of which I have not spoken, but I am reminded that the convention has work to do.

Let us restore the ancient bounds of the constitution, overthrow the greed that controls the government, and secure to the people their right to rule.

There is much on which we can present a united front to the enemy and win victory for the people. Let us renew the covenant of Jeffersonian faith, gird on the armor of patriotic fervor, and combat for liberty and law.

"'Tis not in mortals to command success,
But we'll do more, we'll deserve it."

LARGE PROPERTY LOSS.

Kansas Town Quickly Flooded by a Cloudburst.

Marysville, Kas., Aug. 26.—A cloudburst struck in this vicinity, causing the Big Blue river to rise 16 feet within a few hours and sending a great flood of water south down the bottoms along that stream. Many inhabitants in the lowlands were driven from their homes and heavy damage to property was done. One death by drowning is reported. Marysville was deluged and the bottoms were filled with water from 10 to 15 feet deep. Fifty houses were almost entirely submerged, their inmates taking refuge in trees and on housetops. Seventy-five persons had been rescued in boats in daylight, and 20 others were taken to places of safety. The stream washed out the tracks on the Blue Valley branch of the Union Pacific for several miles, and wiped telegraph and telephone wires out, shutting the town off from outside communication.

A wall of water struck Vleits, a town of 100 on the Vermilion river, east of here, in the same county, driving the residents of the town from their homes. Previously the Vermilion had risen four feet in an hour and Vleits is five feet under water. All the stores and perhaps 25 residences are inundated, and the damage at that place is estimated at $50,000. The river is three miles wide.

Four Men Drowned.

New York, Aug. 26.—During the height of the storm a huge derrick on the Central Railroad of New Jersey bridge across Newark bay from Bayonne to Elizabeth was swept from its supports into the water, carrying with it nine workmen. Four of the men were drowned and several badly injured. At least 60 men were at work on the bridge at a point about half a mile from the Bayonne shore. The top of the derrick was 180 feet from the water and nine men were working at various points on the huge structure, Gustav Fisher of Bayonne being on the very top of it. Strange to say, he was about the only one to escape injury. He realized that it was impossible for him to reach the bridge, so he clung to the rigging and fell with it into the center of the channel. When he came to the surface he swam ashore. Although he collapsed after reaching land, he seemed to be in very good condition.

Yachts in a Storm.

New York, Aug. 26.—A terrible northwest wind and electrical storm struck Sandy Hook and Shamrock III and Reliance and a fleet of half a dozen yachts, including the Erin, C. Oliver Iselin's Sunbeam and the Herreshoffs' Roamer were in great danger for a time. The yacht Eureka, breaking from her anchorage, was blown violently against a coal scow and carried the scow before it. It seemed for a time that the two boats would crash into Shamrock III, which lay almost in the path of the gale not 100 yards away.

Panic in Theater.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 26.—During a heavy thunderstorm the lights in Blaney's theater were suddenly extinguished and the audience, composed mainly of women and children, became panic-stricken and rushed for the fire escapes, many of the women fainting and being trampled on. Florence Kelrigal, aged 6 years, fell from a fire escape platform and was probably fatally injured. No one else was [illegible]

INSURANCE AGAINST TWINS.

he Lloyds is a kind of insurance hange. It is a house composed of reat number of independent insure brokers. These brokers, when a cy of some nature is asked for, re the risk of it. They go on it to number of twelve or fifteen, each a small portion of its total. and s a new chapter is added to the

'our insurance policies against the risk of twins have been issued, three by the Lloyds, and one by an American house One of these policies, an English one, has been collected. It was for $1,200.

The American policy against twins was issued in 1898, to a New York man, a tea merchant He called at the office of the New York house that rivals the Lloyds in enterprise and daring, and he said:

"I was married six months ago, and I have a horror of twins. A friend of mine, an Englishman, told me last year in London that the Lloyds had insured him against twins. Will you issue a policy like that to me?"

"How large a policy do you want?" the agent asked.

"Well," said the tea merchant, "I reckon that $3,000 would about pay the extra expense of a twin. I'd like to have a $3,000 policy."

"Did your mother," said the agent, "ever have twins?"

"No," replied the merchant.

"Did your grandmother on either side of the house?"

"No."

"id your wife's mother or grandmothers?"

"No."

"How about the great grandmothers?"

"Well, I'm not sure about them. I will have to look them up."

"I wish you would," said the agent.

The merchant looked up his own and his wife's great grandmothers' records, and was able to report that there had never been any hint of twins in their histories.

"Then," said the agent, "we will issue the policy that you desire. The rate will be 5 per cent. That is to sav in case you should ever become the father of twins, we will pay to you, so long as the policy is in effect, $3,000; and you, to keep the policy in, effect, will ay to us $150 yearly"

The tea merchant took out his twin insurance upon these terms, and maintained it for five years. During the five years three children were born in his family, two girls and a boy, but these children came singly. The merchant, assured that his fear of twins had been groundless, allowed his policy to lapse last January. It is said that there are today no twin policies in existence in the United States, though several are still in force in England.

There is a company with headquarters in Doylestown, Pa., that issues upon animals life insurance that are similar in every way to the life insurances which men take out. This company's inspectors and examiners go from place to place, studying the horses, cows and dogs that are to be insured. The men also make a photograph of the policies' subjects. These photographs prevent fraud; they make a dead animal's identification perfect. They make it impossible for any dishonest person foisting aworthless carcass on the company to collect insurance upon some valuable animal that is still alive.

An animal insurance agent said the other day:

"I have issued policies on horses, elephants,lions, bears, eagles, giraffes alligators, snakes, parrots, and a hundred other creatures I have two ways of issuing a policy.

"Suppose, for instance, that Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt is going to send a team of coaching horses abroad. His agent comes to me and says he wishes to insure the horses during their passage over. I ask him what sum he wants the policy made out for, and I set him a rate based on the character of the boat on which the horses are to sail. The rate varies from 2 to 5 per cent, according to the boat's speed, record and safety. If my terms suit the agent, Mr. Vanderbilt's policy is made out. No exhaustive examinations are gone through and no precautions against fraud are taken. In a policy of this kind I work on what is termed a 'moral risk.' Knowing my patron, I know it is unnecessary to guard against fraud, for the reason that fraud would be beneath my patron. Practically all animals of value that cross the ocean are insured.

HOW ANIMALS ARE INSURED.

"In the other kind of policy — the policy issued to poor and unknown men — I take every precaution. I make a thoroughexamination of the animal that is to be insured. I test its lungs; I take its age; I note down all its peculiarity of colors — a star here, a patch of brown there, a white stocking on the right foreleg — and finally I make its photograph. Then I issue my policy, never for more than two-thirds of the animal's full value, and at a rate of from 5 per cent up "The rates in animal insurance are at present high. This is because the biggest live stock insurance company in America failed a few years ago. This company was a mutual concern, and its offices were in Philadelphia. I believe that nearly every live stock owner in Pennsylvania had his animals insured in it. Its rates were so disproportionately low that the average horse, living, say, ten years, would, being insured for $150, pay into the company $75, and then die. Losses came right and left, and the company disbanded in confusion. The reaction from that fatal error in rates is now very evident, and to take out a life insurance on an animal today is an expensive thing.

"Valuable race horses, as they tour the country for the various race meetings, carry insurance. Their policies, though, are not for life, but for six months or a year. The rate they pay is on the average of 10 per cent. Thus a $5,000 policy on a horse costs $500 a year. The rate, you see, is huge. The policy, though, is a good one. It is payable for death from any cause. Should the horse, for instance, be shot on account of injuries received from a fall, the full amount would be paid its owner, the same as though the animal had died a natural death.

"Tropical animals are insured, as a rule, only during journeys that they make. An elephant, a lion, a tiger, a giraffe, say, will be insured for a trip across the Atlantic to America. The Lloyds issue most of these policies. They run from the one-half of 1 per cent up to 8 and 9 per cent, according to the nature of the animal and the character of the voyage it is to take.

"In England all live stock is registered. Hence, over there, it is difficult to cheat the insurance companies. In the United States registry is not compulsory and cheating is an easy thing."

THE OHIO DEMOCRACY.

The victory of Tom Johnson in yesterday's meetings preliminary to the Ohio Democratic state convention Tuesday appears to have been overwhelming. It is true that the Zimmerman forces may carry the fight into the convention, but the prestige of Tuesday's victory will count greatly in favor of the Cleveland candidate. Yet should Johnson be nominated ,although it will mean the defeat of the conservative element in the party, it will not necessarily mean a triumph for Bryan or Byanism. It will rather be a personal tribute to the fighting capacity of Johnson, his ability to catch votes to make himself popular.

Of course there is scant hope, even among the Ohio Democracy, that Johnson will have any chance of being elected. but it serves to keep the single taxer in a public eye and can be used as a foundation for a presidential boom, or, in default, a candidacy for the senate, it will have done all that can be expected. It is one thing to secure the Democratic nomination in Ohio nowadays and another thing to get the support of the party. With the Jones independents avowedly hostile and the McLean-Zimmerman adherents upon the warpath, whatever votes Johnson secures must fall far short of seriously affecting the great Republican majorities which Ohio has returned of late years.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

THE CRISP BANK NOTE MAY GO.

People who have suffered from "shrinkage" in money will be interested in learning of the experiments now in progress atWashington which promise to do away with this cause of so much embarrassment and inconvenience

The remedy is not a populistic one. It does not propose to stop money shrinkage by government fiat or by any legislation of the sixteen to one kind. It is a scientific remedy, and has to do with the paper upon which bank notes, treasury notes and postage stamps are printed By a novel chemical treatment of the paper is is claimed that it is not only rendered non-shrinkable, but "soft and velvety." This means the passing from the circulating medium of the "crisp" bank notes, which it is the delight of the bank cashier to handle.

Because paper shrinks after it has received the impression of George Washington on one side and a coating of mucilage on the other, and because no two sheets shrink alike, it is claimed that in the process of perforating sheets of postage stamps one fifth are ruined It is believed that through this chemical mixture, which is the product of the combined efforts of the draughtsman and the chief printer of the coast and geologi prevented

Under the present process of printing paper money the paper has to be thoroghly soaked in water While it is in this condition one side of the sheet of bank bills is printed. It is then placed in a steam room and kept nder a high temperature for thirty days, after which it is again soaked and printed on the other side. The wetting and drying process not only causes the bills to shrink but rots the fiber of the paper.

To the average man it is of little consequence whether the bank notes are crisp or limp and velvety Neither is he greatly concerned about their shrinkable quality so long as they pass for face value. To the government, however, it is claimed that the saving to be effected by the proposed chemical treatment is an item of considerable importance.—Chicago Record Herald.

LORD SALISBURY.

When news came of the fatal illness of Lord Salisbury the once allpowerful tory statesman had disappeared as completely from public life as if he were already a tenant of the grave. A few short months out of office sufficed for that, and the fact is interesting evidence of the immense influence of official notoriety upon the popular imagination. The indispensable statesman was reduced to a cipher, as most indispensable statesmen are when they retire voluntarily to make room for their indispensable successors.

It is true, nevertheless, that the fortune, the career and the abilities of the ex-premier were all very much out of the common. He came of one of the most illustrious houses of England, and the most uncompromising Democrat must be affected to a certain extent by his family traditions. The Cecils certainly had reason to feel that they were born to rule, that the glories of their country were in a peculiar degree an inheritance of their own. Lord Salisbury himself was duly impressed by this feeling, and though he incurred the displeasure of his father by his marriage and was forced to writing for the periodicals as a consequence, he remained an aristocrat throughout his life. He was distinctly a governor from the classes with a contempt for the masses, and it is perhaps doubtful if another man of his type will ever succeed to his authority.

Whether he himself could have wielded that authority as he did except for a remarkably favorable combination of circumstances is also doubtful. He owed much to the radicalism of Mr Gladstone on the Irish question, which made the British people turn instinctively to an ultra conservative. It is highly improbable that his service as premier would have been longer than that of any other Victorian statesman but for this fact. He owed much also to the favor of the queen, and though he fought Disraeli at one time he ended by courting him, which showed that he could condescend to "play politics" even if he was not a demagogue.

His ability was first manifested in the savage satire of his writings, which appeared again in his speeches in parliament. All the biographical notices that have been written of him abound in examples of this satire. His later fame depended chiefly on his reputation as foreign secretary, but it is too early as yet to say that it is firmly established. While he had an unusually comprehensive knowledge of international politics, his conduct of foreign affairs has led Englishmen themselves to turn against him the sneer of Bismarck that he was a lath painted to look like iron. It will be remembered in this connection that he drew back in the Venezuelan dispute after a considerable show of resolution, and though the step was wise this can hardly be said of the diplomacy that led up to it.

It is clear, however, that if he is given a high standing ultimately it will be because of his record in the foreign office, since he had little part in the constructive work of domestic legislation.

DISTURBED BILLMAN'S MEETING AND THEN RESISTED ARREST

Young Man With Too Many High-Balls Subscribes to City's Expense Account.

After being clubbed and hammered until his head felt like a geological map of the planet Mars, Artist Weidman, who is employed by the Meek & Beach company, was landed in the city prison by Officers Johnson, Mapel and Haines, Tuesday evening. Weidman drank enough rye to make him playful, and happening to walk past Billman's meeting, he caught the spirit and began imitating the preacher, who was standing in front of The Age office.

Officer Johnson took Weidman in tow and escorted him down Main street. When they reached the Mecca hotel, Weidman insisted on going in to inform his friends of his predicament and if possible avoid spending the night at the city prison. The officer thought it was time enough to arrange that after he reached the city hall, and Weidman, who is well built and not accustomed to being led, strenuously resisted. A battle royal ensued. Chief Mapel and Officer Haines took a hand in the fray.

There has been much adverse comment on the streets today concerning the manner in which the officers sed their black jacks on Weidman's head, but resisting an officer is a grave offense in the eyes of the law and calls for heroic remedies.

Officer Haines took Weidman the remainder of the way down and landed him behind the bars. Three charges were placed against him: intoxication, disorderly conduct, and resisting an officer.

When he appeared before Mayor Rinner this morning the first charge had been dropped. Weidman pleaded guilty to the other two. He was fined three dollars and costs for disorderly conduct and five dollars and costs for resisting an officer, making in all $13.60. He paid his fine and was released The report that his head was terribly battered was exaggerated. One large bump on the back of his head was the only visible indication that he had been in contact with a policeman's billy.

PAT'S PREDICAMENT.

A man who gave his name as Patrick Murphy faced the mayor this morning. He was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Turnkey Decker in the alley near the Eureka laundry. Someone had telephoned to the city hall that Patrick was too drunk to take care of himself. He stated to the mayor this morning that he has been employed in a coal mine at Otsego for several weeks and was on his way to Warsaw. He stopped off here and drank too much liquor. He was given the usual assessment of $3.80.

FREY WAITED TOO LONG.

Mike Frey, who participated in the fight at the corner of Main and Third streets Saturday night, did not appear at the city hall at one o'clock Monday afternoon, the time set for his hearing and the five dollars which had been put up for his appearance was forfeited. Frank Jones, who was fighting with Frey pleaded guilty and was fined $4 80. A man named Taylor, who was arrested at the same time, was fined $3 80.

BILLMAN TRIAL POSTPONED.

The trial of John Billman, who was arrested several weeks ago on the charge of blockading the sidewalks, was set for this morning, but has been postponed once more, and the eccentric preacher is confident nothing will ever be done with it.

PROSTRATED AT TABLE BY EXCESSIVE HEAT

Glen Tish was stricken with a peculiar malady while sitting at the breakfast table about six o'clock this morning. He startled his family by suddenly falling over on the table and passing into unconsciousness. He recovered his senses in a few minutes, and the cause of the strange fainting spell is not known, unless due to hot weather. A physician was called in, and Mr. Tish is now much better.

HIT THE MAN AND THEN FIXED AND PAID HIS FINE

Rather Remarkable Case Comes Up in Local Magistrate's Court, From Isleta.

Smith Brown, of Isleta, has just disproven a practice that is alleged to have become a part of the curriculum of justices throughout the county. The proof was brought about through Squire Wimmer's court.

Tuesday Thomas Bennet filed charges in Squire Wimmer's court against Smith Brown for assault and battery. Both reside at Isleta.

Brown responded to the summons, and had with him a paper, to the effect that he had paid his fine to Squire Culbertson, of Isleta.

"Paid the fine to him?" ejaculated Squire Wimmer. "What charge were you arrested on?"

"No charge," replied Brown. "I knew Bennet was going to make trouble, so I just mosied into Squire Culbertson's office and planked down a dollar for the fine, and here is the receipt."

The local magistrate became red in the face and choked and then expostulated to show the man that such was against all legal precedent, and that a man could not pay a fine when he had been charged with nothing; nor could he fix the amount of the fine.

Brown averred that he was from Missouri or words to that effect, and consulted several lawyers without finding any support for his theory.

He returned to Squire Wimmer, pleaded guilty to the charge and paid a fine of $3 and costs, a total of $5.50.

It is said that such instances as cited are of frequent occurrence throughout the country districts.

THE HOTTER THE DAY THE LESS WATER THERE IS

The city water supply gave out for about an hour last evening, and the garden hose was as limp as the average man's standing collar. The shortage was felt throughout the city and was due to the combination of an exceedingly hot day and a general demand for water during the sprinkling hours of 5 to 8 o'clock. The force came on again before the time limit ran out and a few persistent ones were able to cool off their premises somewhat.

The city council did not mention water at their session last night, not even as a chaser. It is almost time that the august members of the municipal legislative body reach some decision upon this all important matter.

"HEN OIL" IS THE LATEST BOON TO FARMER

Young London Chemist Says He Has Important Discovery.

London, Aug. 26. — An extraordinary step in the artificial incubation of eggs is the result of some years of labor on the part of E. V. Boyes, a young North London chemist.

He has discovered that "something," the lack of which, from the time of the Egyptians downward, has qualified the success of all artificial incubators.

With the knowledge that the perspiration and its complex constituents of a sitting hen are important factors to a successful hatch, Mr. Boyes secured a quantity of the perspiration of a large number of hens feverish with the maternal instinct, and began experimenting.

"ETHEREAL SUBSTANCE OF ACETIC ODOR."

He found on chemical analysis, that it consisted of a fatty matter, moisture, and an ethereal substance of acetic odor, with a little dust or dirt. Further experiments have resulted in his now offering the poultry farmer a novel article of commerce in the form of "hen oil."

He asserts that by putting a little of this curious concoction into the moisture tray under he egg drawer in the incubator, it will be automatically evaporated and diffused by the internal heat, and will do all the instinctive work of a setting hen.

TABLOID TO INCREASE THE CHICKS.

But this is not all. Mr. Boyes has invented a tablet that will provide the lifeless incubator with "animal magnetism." The tablet also is placed in the moisture tray, and as it dissolves gives rise to a continuous nonvarying current which aids in bringing forth a larger per centage of healthy chicks than is at present obtainable.

Both the "hen oil" and the tabloid will be put on the market in the course of a few months.

Story on Robson

Only a short time before Stuart Robson's death, I met an old and cherished professional friend, an actress, whose name of a synonym for all that is true and good told a story of the great comedian's benevolent character, for the truth of which the lady with the love of simple romance so native to the feminine soul, fully vouched.

Stuart Robson was a warm friend and admirer of the tragedian, the late Lawrence Barrett. Thetwo finished actors and gentlemen in their summers of holiday exchanged frequent visits at their homes. At the time of the story Robson had gone down to Barrett's seaside residence for a visit. Barrett's lovely daughter was there, and it happened that there was present at the beach that summer a young protege of Mr. Robson — an earnest and soulful, but singularly impecunious, young man. The young man, in order to fulfill the romantic destiny of the human race, proceeded promptly to fall in love with the young woman. Robson caught his protege alone on the beach one day and with a matter-ofcourse conviction that Barrett's daughter could never be won by the young man, while really meaning the latter good will, said:

"I say, X——, I see you are out after Barrett's daughter."

The young man admitted this.

"Think you got any chance?" asked Robson, easily.

The young man thought he had.

"Well," continued Robson, thinking of the steadfast love and friendship which for years had existed between himself and Barrett, "the day, my boy, you capture Lawrence Barret's daughter, I'll write you a check for $5,000."

Robson never thought anything more of the matter. What, therefore was the honest comedian's surprise and state of mind upon picking up a newspaper a year later to read of the approaching marriage of his protege and Miss Barrett. Robson went into secret session with himself. Although the now flustered actor had not seriously anticipated the present result, still the marriage was to take place, and he must redeem his word In the morning set for the wedding Stuart Robson rose bright and early. Circumstances had permitted his presence as a guest at the coming celebration. He called his daughter to him.

"I have here a check for $5,000," said he. "I wish you would carry it over to young X——."

The daughter did as she was told.

"My dear," called Robson as he saw his daughter at the door of his room on her return, "did you give X—— that check?"

"Yes, papa," said Miss Robson.

"What did he do?" inquired Robson.

"Why," said the messenger, "he burst out crying."

Robson looked struck by this. This was an unusual evidence of feeling. He pondered a moment.

"Burst out crying, did he?" queried Robson. "How long did he cry?"

"For fully five minutes," replied the daughter.

"Oh," said Robson, "that's nothing. I cried all night."

MRS. IDA McDONALD,
Supreme Deputy of the Maccabees of the World.

Mrs. Ida McDonald.

MRS. McDONALD, No. 477 Beaubien Street, Detroit, Mich., is a prominent woman who was greatly benefited by the great woman's medicine, Wine of Cardui. Mrs. McDonald is the supreme deputy of the Maccabees of the World, and one of the most widely known women in the United States. Thousands of women gather to hear her lecture everywhere she goes. The great work she has done for the Maccabees is appreciated by every member of the order. She was so absorbed in her work that she neglected to give her health proper care—failed to take warning that the symptoms of approaching kidney trouble gave her, the sallow complexion and torpid liver. But Wine of Cardui cured her the same as it has cured thousands of others and Mrs. McDonald has written this letter in order that other suffering women may secure from Wine of Cardui the same relief she got from it.

"For four years I suffered with torpid liver until my skin looked yellow and dull. I then found my kidneys were affected and had severe pains across my back, and I felt that I must do something to regain my health. A friend advocated your Wine of Cardui treatment so strongly that I decided to try it, although I had little faith in patent medicines. I am now very thankful that I did so, for within ten days blessed relief came to me, and in less than three months I was cured, and have enjoyed fine health ever since. I know there is nothing better for a sick woman who wishes to enjoy perfect health and am very pleased to give my hearty endorsement."

No suffering woman can afford to ignore such a letter as Mrs. McDonald writes. Her plans and advice have proved valuable in building up one of the greatest women's organizations in the United States and she takes time to give advice which she knows will help you.

Do not delay in securing this medicine. There is nothing to gain and everything to lose by delay. The choice is before you. Will or will you not secure relief now by taking Wine of Cardui? All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui as well as 25c packages of Thedford's Black-Draught.

Osco's Job Safe

George Marlatt is a great lover of snakes, as everybody knows—abernit. Tuesday morning he walked into Timmons' grocery store with his usual Waldorf-Astoria glide.

Fred Timmons informed George that he had just received a letter from a gentleman who needed a good man and would pay two dollars a day if Fred would send him some one who would fill the erquirements. The two dollars looked good to George, and as Mr. Turner was quite sure George was just the man for the place he was all attention. He asked what the position was and was informed that Osco, the snake eater, had died from the effects of internal snake bites and that his manager needed another man. This was enough for George.

He expressed a fervent desire that Osco's manager should go to a land of perpetual summer, where the atmosphere is even warmer than it is in Coshocton. Then he quickly made his exit out the side door, hied himself to a lemonade stand, and has not been seen in that vicinity since.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

PIQUA AND URBANA TO SETTLE CHAMPIONSHIP

Willie Robertson to Do Twirling in First Game Of Series.

Coshocton enthusiasts are considerably interested in the coming series of base ball games for the amateur championship of Ohio, in which Coshocton boys are to cut many pounds of ice.

Piqua and Urbana are the rival teams for the honor, and they are so confident of their own prowess, that five games will be played for $500 a side, the winner to take all, and be declared the amateur champions of the state.

Two games are to be played at each of the towns, and the fifth, if necessary, at Sidney The first game will be played at Piqua Friday of this week, and Will Robertson, the speedy Coshocton pitcher who is home on a short vacation, will be on the slab for the Piquas. He has probably pitched more few-hit games than any other amateur pitchers in the state.

STUMP MAKES MILE IN 2:15 1-2

An Old Coshocton Matinee Favorite Coming to The Front.

Coshocton again to the front. "Stump," J. J. Wood's old matinee favorite is getting up into the headlines. The Philadelphia North American of Monday comes out with big headlines and a half-column article, a portion of which is as follows:

George W. Cook's bay gelding, Stump, paced a sensational mile at Belmont yesterday morning, going a distnce without a skip in 2:15 1-2.

The horse has a record of 2:23 1-4 and Mr. Cook said in the presence of a knot or horsemen that he thought his pacer could beat 2:19.

After a few bantering remarks Frank Jackson hooked the pacer to a sulky, and after a warming up mile came down the stretch like a whirlwind.

So fast and even was the pacer going that Dave Dallas forgot to catch him at the quarter pole, but when the half was reached the time showed 1:08 1-2.

Stump lost a little going up the hill to the three-quarter pole, but made up for his loss in the stretch, coming under thewire in 2:15 1-2, the last quarter being paced in 31 1-4 seconds, a most creditable performance.

The gelding holds second place in speed trials for the track this season, first honors belonging to Cuban, which paced a mile three weeks ago in 2:13 1-2.

Will Elect Captain.

DETAILED STORY OF THE RACE

[By Telegraph to The Age.]

New York, Aug. 26.—The Reliance won the second race for the cup from the Shamrock III by the narrow margin of one minute and 19 seconds, over a triangular course, 10 miles to a leg.

The race was as pretty and as hard a fought contest as has ever been sailed off Sandy Hook and had the wind not fallen during the last 10 minutes, the record for the course, three hours, 12 minutes and 15 seconds, made by Columbia two years ago in her memorable race against Shamrock II., would have been broken. As it was, Reliance sailed the 30 miles within two minutes and 39 seconds of the record, which speaks wonders for her speed in the wind that was blowing. Reliance's victory, narrow as it was, would have been even smaller had not Captain Wringe, the skipper of the British ship, bungled the start, sending his craft over the line 19 seconds after the last gun and handicapping her to that extent. At every point of sailing the defender's superiority was demonstrated. She gained one minute and 51 seconds in windward work, 40 seconds on the run to the second mark, and 45 seconds on the close reach for home.

Had Three-Minute Lead.

Based upon the magnificent showings he has made in the two races already sailed, it is the belief of many experts that the cup is safe and that it will take something better than Fife's latest creation to even budge it.

Both boats made the turn of the first mark as follows: Reliance, 12:21:38; Shamrock, 12:24:45. Though the Reliance had a lead of three minutes and 75 seconds, she still lacked six seconds of making up the time allowance and the difference of one minute and 34 seconds at the start. Officially, the Shamrock III was still six seconds ahead of the slippery Yankee craft, but it was evident that the latter had won the race barring accidents. In a breeze varying from four to ten knots an hour, she had made good the time allowance in a 10 miles thresh to windward and there was every reason to believe that in reaching and running—which are her two strongest points of sailing, she would quickly overcome that official six seconds. Both captains broke out balloon jib topsails when they squared for the second turn With the wind over their quarters both yachts made fast time of it but it was apparent that Reliance was gaining. They made the second turn as follows: Reliance, 1:17:50; Shamrock, 1:21:45.

The Reliance was leading by three minutes 55 seconds, having gained 40 seconds in the run across from the first to the second mark. She had overcome the time allowance, made good the difference at the start and established a margin to her credit of 34 seconds. With a close reach to be made there was faint hope for the challenger.

Wind Died Away.

The Reliance whirled about the mark, gibed over, trimmed in her sheets and romped away on a close reach towards Sandy Hook lightship and the finish line. She was three-quarters of a mile away before Shamrock III rounded the mark. Both yachts were heeling before a 12-knot wind from southwest and were sailing at least one mile an hour faster than the wind was blowing. As the wind softened Reliance first set a baby jib topsail which the Shamrock had been carrying since turning the second mark, and then extended itself for a big reaching topsail, which the Shamrock promptly followed suit. When Reliance was a quarter of a mile from the finish line the wind died away considerably, but Shamrock came booming along carrying a splendid breeze and fast overhauling the leader. It looked as though the British boat was going to get within her time limit, but the finish line was too close and the Reliance slipped across it with one minute and 19 seconds to spare. The Shamrock III finished in a softening wind and both boats were taken in tow to Sandy Hook.

CAPTAIN DILLON AT OLD HOME

Veteran of Mexican and Civil Wars is Visiting In Coshocton.

Captain John Dillon, of North English, Iowa, is in the city, the guest of J. N. Wood and others. Captain Dillon was originally an old Coshocton boy, and was captain of the Thirty-third Ohio when they marched to the front at the call of Abraham Lincoln. He is widely known and loved throughout the county among the older generations

Captain Dillon was also a veteran of the Mexican war, and slept under the same blanket with Joseph Sawyer, down on the Mexican plateaus. His last visit to Coshocton was fifteen years ago, when the Grand Army held its national encampment at Columbus. He expresses himself as profoundly impressed at the rapid strides made by the old city and the general air of prosperity that permeates it throughout.

He is now a wealthy banker and real estate owner in the great state of the Mississippi valley.

Scorcher Was Scorched.

A bicycle scorcher ran into the phaeton of Thad H. Montgomery Tuesday evening as he and Mrs. Montgomery were driving along Chestnut street. It happened that the horse was walking slowly, but the scorcher came with so much force that it threw him several feet. Mr. Montgomery succeeded in calming the frightened horse, and luckily for all concerned no one was hurt, except that the wheel was slightly disfigured.
